History

Of iron and fire

Iron: mined and hammer forged reminds us of the personality of the people from the Valley who are strong-willed and determined.

Fire: needed to forge metal reminds us of the passion which inhabits every firearm crafted in the workshops and factories of the Val Trompia Valley.

Iron and Fire are the elements that have fueled the history of the Valley that extends along the Mella River and, almost by magical alchemy, they have mixed and transformed the territory into the cradle of Italian shotgun making and a symbol of the Made in Italy known the world over.

Every shotgun designed and crafted by Fausti fully embodies all these values. This is true today just as it was in 1948, when Cav. Stefano Fausti, the founder of the company and one in the small circle of people responsible for the origins of what would later become a real gun making cult, started the firm named after him, in the small town of Marcheno. This is the successful business that has been led by his three daughters Elena, Giovanna and Barbara for a long time.

Fausti is one of the most dynamic, well-known and successful establishments in the Italian and International gun making industry.

The company rests on the pillars of tradition and innovation, they do look at the future but from the solid foundation of their experience and past. They do innovate but without revolutionizing, and they strive for continuous evolution to perfect their technical and stylistic heritage.

This philosophy has also driven the company logo restyling meant to express their modernity combined with their loyalty to everlasting values.

The original Fausti Coat of Arms, that used to be the 'signature' of all the products in the line, has been replaced with a monogram of clean, neat and modern lines. The simple and stylized lines elegantly represent the 'F' in Fausti and by mirroring each other, they create a set of antlers all their clients were used to seeing in the old emblem. Antlers are a strong and evocative reminder of the power of nature, a sought-after trophy and the symbol of the animal associated with Saint Hubertus, Patron and Protector of all hunters.

Barbara and Giovanna Fausti

Mission

Proud of the past
Efficient in the present
Forward looking

The firm founded in 1948 has grown and evolved by constantly relying on the experience and traditions that are its essence, following and applying the values and chasing the passion that has animated and influenced all important choices in the Fausti family since day one.

A very consolidated and strong team have formed and matured over the years and is ready and capable to successfully face the constant changes in the market place and in the needs of the public and connoisseurs. It is only through team work and strategic use of individual strengths and talents that Fausti can achieve a high level of efficiency in every company department, from the machine shop to the finishing department where manual work is flawlessly performed by a group of artisans.

While they are deeply rooted in the traditions and values of the past, they are also constantly striving for innovation. Fausti are in the perfect place to produce a wide range of shotguns that combine substance and beauty and meet the needs and desires of the most demanding and discriminating hunters and shooters.

Fausti Steering committee

Vision

A shotgun for everyone, in the name of excellence

Owning a beautiful shotgun should not be the privilege of just a few, but a possibility granted to everyone. That is the philosophy Fausti have built their foundation on. The main objective has always been to give every hunter and shooter a chance to select what is right for them, from a quality entry level shotgun all the way up to a fine masterpiece fully customized by the manual work of a group of highly skilled craftsmen and engravers. Just like the Fausti company motto states 'I'll be your gun', everyone at the firm is committed to make it happen.

The maker's vision is to have the most advanced technology at the service of craftsmanship and vice versa to the full and exclusive benefit of every hunter and shooter who is looking for their dream gun.

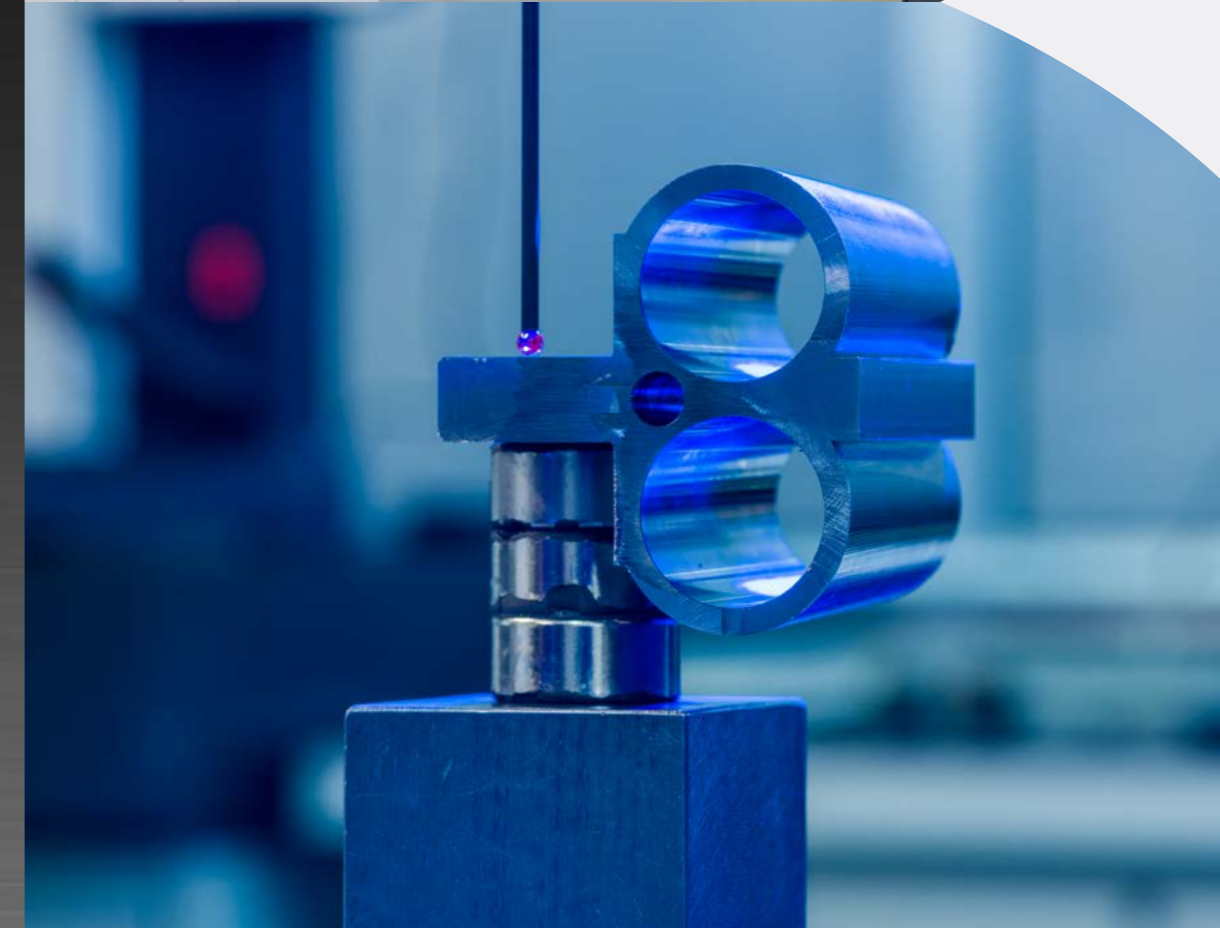

Craftsmanship and technology

Signature technology

Fausti have invested in the most sophisticated milling machines that manufacture all their mechanical components with the highest level of precision and interchangeability. The CNC machines are then matched in precision by high-tech testing and measuring equipment that guarantee product quality, repeatability and reliability.

Assembling, stocking, fitting and finishing are all done manually by a handful of craftsmen driven by care and passion.

Every Fausti shotgun is “living” proof that high precision machining can fully coexist with hand work performed by talented individuals, and that the use of the high-performance materials can coexist with attention to details and love for beauty, when the final objective is the creation of best quality guns.

Side-by-side

A side-by-side shotgun is unquestionably the hunting shotgun, and every hunter's dream, with its beautiful and elegant lines that capture eyes and hearts.

... Close your eyes and you will see yourself pointing a side-by-side shotgun at a cackling pheasant that flushes right ahead of your dog; or swinging the slender barrels on pairs of ducks or the dream of all dreams, following the sound of the wings of a grouse bursting from cover.

Everything in a Fausti side-by-side shotgun is intentionally used to create a work of art: the grain of the wood, the fine ornamental scroll, gently cut by the tip of the burin on the canvas of the side-plates, the flawless wood to metal fit and the deep blue of the barrels. A Fausti side-by-side shotgun is not just a 'beautiful gun', but a loyal hunting companion, a treasure chest of emotions and memories to protect for generations to come.

- Modified Anson & Deeley-type mechanism.
First introduced in 1875, yet still synonymous with higher manufacturing quality and reliability.
- Actions scaled to the gauge and caliber.
Enhanced looks, ballistic performance, comfort and reduced weight.
- Components machined from solid blocks of steel. Better quality overall, reliability, durability and wear resistance over time.

Anson & Deeley

Since its introduction in 1875, the Anson & Deeley-type mechanism has gained popularity thanks to its engineering simplicity and robustness and for allowing the concentration of weight around the hinge pin area for fast and comfortable aiming and shooting. The mechanism has evolved over the centuries. In many cases, it has been overly simplified and made more suitable for mass production, for example through the employment of coil springs. To the contrary, Fausti's modern take of the Anson & Deeley mechanism has never been to the detriment of its genuine quality and the fundamental principle of using leaf springs to operate the hammers. Thanks to their advanced machine center employed for the production of solid parts and the careful final quality check carried out by highly trained staff, Fausti have been able to build upon the fundamentals of the mechanism.

Side-by-side Core

Fausti entry level side-by-side shotguns are simple but refined in their essentialism. They have been designed for all those hunters who know what they want and like, and wish to step into the world of hunting guns 'on the right foot'. They are hunters who expect nothing less than robustness and total reliability from an entry level gun. Fausti guarantee them exactly that. This is the reason why every Fausti entry level side by side shotgun features the same Anson & Deeley-type mechanism as their higher-quality sisters, as well as solid components.

The company logo on the top lever and the trigger guard and inlaid in the forearm enhances the looks and immediately identifies the maker. Fausti entry level side-by-side shotguns represent uncompromised quality made affordable to everyone.

Side-by-side Boutique

Just like a tailored suit, a Fausti side-by-side shotgun in the Boutique line allows its owner to fully customize their gun. And it is not just the gun, but it is the experience that becomes totally personal.

When a shotgun connoisseur goes to Fausti for a gun in the Boutique line, he/she is walked through every step of the selection process by experienced and skilled personnel, as if they were in a small workshop. No time is spared from the selection of stock shape - English grip, pistol or Prince of Wales, to barrel length, choke types and constrictions, trigger mechanism - single or double, all the way up to hand engraving signed by the artist and other finishing details that will make of his/her gun a unique piece.

Side-by-side Express

Core

A side-by-side double rifle evokes exciting and adventurous hunts of times past and it is the perfect choice for a 'romantic' and yet pragmatic hunter who is looking for the right gun for big game driven hunts.

The rifles in the Core line, offered in all suitable calibers, are powerful and accurate, and yet light, easy and safe to carry with open barrels in the thick of the woods. They offer peace of mind when a fast second shot is needed, with no misfiring. But they also maintain the magic and fascination of a traditional hunting double rifle perfectly intact.

Side-by-side Competition

FAUSTI USA, INC.
FREDERICKSBURG, VA - MADE IN ITALY

DEA SPORT

Fausti competition side-by-side shotguns are a tribute to the past, when the best competitors in the world used to shoot them in the most challenging international shoots, but also another example of the company's strategic awareness of the present. The result is the model Dea Sport: practical, simple and robust as is expected of a gun designed to shoot thousands of rounds.

The Dea Sport, whose reinforced components help withstand the pressure of high-volume competition shooting, comes with adjustable stock, wide beavertail forend for maximum grip comfort and stability, coil spring trigger pulls, and interchangeable choke tubes. The action with its aggressive and clean-cut lines is totally black to better represent its competitive clays vocation.

Over-and-under

Despite its more sportive and modern image, an over and under shotgun is still a very elegant and fine firearm. Fast to mount, well balanced, safe in the shooter's hands and steady on the second shot, an over and under shotgun moves as the shooter moves and fully empowers his/her rapid shots either on the chase of a wild game or the last target. Thanks to the quality of the engineering and materials as well as the employment of the patented Four Locks mechanism, Fausti over and under shotguns are second to none when it comes to light weight, balance, reliability and durability. The attention to details and the level of manual finishing help tell them apart from any other gun on the market today, as well as the elegant lines and the unintrusive, but visible presence of the company logo on the trigger guard and the top lever.

Every Fausti over and under shotgun is a loyal friend every day you spend following your passion.

- Proprietary 'Four Locks' locking system. Improved reliability and durability over time, no matter how heavy the use.
- Actions scaled to the gauge and caliber. Enhanced looks, ballistic performance, comfort and reduced weight.
- Components machined from solid blocks of steel. Better quality overall, reliability, durability and wear resistance over time.

Four Locks

Four lugs work together to create a lock that will not fail; a lock that will go the distance of thousands and thousands of rounds even with high pressure loads; a lock that will enhance precision by strongly opposing the forces that would move the barrels left to right and up and down from the action while firing. These are micrometric shifts everyone expects in a shotgun, and Fausti have decided to eliminate them by adding a second set of lugs on the inside of the action sides, in addition to the traditional ones created in the barrel monobloc. That has resulted in a perfect mechanical hold and lateral closing.

Over-and-under

Core

Every Fausti over and under shotgun in the Core line features an action proportioned to the gauge and caliber, the exclusive 'Four Locks' system and components machined from solid blocks of materials, as well as uncompromised manufacturing standards, high barrel performance and fast and crisp triggers. The emphasis put on the intrinsic quality of the guns in this line does not take anything away from their looks: from oil-polished stocks, to coin-finished or case-colored actions embellished by strongly evocative laser engraving.

When you go for a Fausti over and under shotgun, you go for much more than 'just' a gun!

Core

A Fausti over and under double rifle in the Core line is a powerful device, with an unbreakable locking system, as tough as it gets. The rifle is another variation of an almost legendary shotgun. The short side plates of the box lock action, either coin finished or color case hardened, with their deep laser engraving and the action bottom panel with its two visible black tenons yield a sober and elegant rifle, perfect for hunting from a blind or walking in the habitats.

The guns come standard with front and rear sight systems which allow fast target acquisition under any light. For hunters who prefer to use scopes or red dots, Fausti Core over and under rifles are ready to accept a dedicated rail system. Nothing is ever left to chance on a Fausti gun!

A Boutique over and under double rifle is uniquely suited for all those hunters who, in a fine firearm, appreciate both the quality of its finishing details as well as the ballistic performance of its barrels, certified by a gunmaker that always stands behind its creations. In addition to the wide range of customizations offered by the Fausti Boutique line, the bigger engraving canvas of long side plates of the box lock actions give a more appropriate display of the Master Engraver's craftsmanship who always signs their work: touches of class of an exclusive product.

Over-and-under Competition

When you are just one round away from victory, you must trust not only your skills and competitive nature, but your shotgun. Every Fausti over and under shotgun will instill that trust at first sight thanks to the dynamic and modern lines that convey energy and sportsmanship. The action is designed and machined to maximize resistance and minimize size; the barrels and chokes engineered to generate dense, full and concentrated patterns; the trigger pulls so crisp and precise you feel you can pull the trigger just by will power; the solid and unbreakable 'Four Locks' locking system that will go the distance for you and with you, round after round, target after target, practice after practice and competition after competition.

A Fausti competition shotgun is a companion that never gets tired; the adjustable stock allows a perfect fit and sight picture, and along with the great gun balance and ergonomics, the best shooting stance for you. Fausti over and under shotguns are trustworthy companions for the best competition shooters!
